Stephen Raine is a British concert pianist whose remarkable comeback has brought renewed depth and meaning to his performances. In 2023, Stephen suffered a catastrophic hand injury that resulted in the loss of a finger and severe damage to his right hand. After major reconstructive surgery and over 18 months of rehabilitation, he returned to the concert stage.

Featured by BBC and Classic FM, Stephen infuses every performance with insight and expression forged through his extraordinary recovery.
